TRIBUTE TO MOTHER

Woodsmen who pioneered in the days when our nation was young saw a candle glowing in the window of a rude cabin as they plodded homeward at journey's end; patriots saw the same gleam when wars came to a close; collegians have looked forth to its cheeriness as holidays approached.

Always the light has betokened Mother's welcome.

Today, when American boys serve on foreign strands, when training camps and battlefields grow deadly monotonous, thoughts of Mother and the home she has enshrined beckon to them as a light guiding their footsteps from the wilderness. No one thought has so affected the destiny of men's lives—even history itself—as that for the gentle, kindly woman known by men great and small as Mother.

Today mothers the world over, like those in our own community, bear heart-heavy burdens. They fear for sons in the armed forces, sons who are always in their thoughts. Few soldiers or sailors, even in the battle zones, know the strain which is their mothers' everyday lot as a result of the world ablaze.

Let us with deepest gratitude pay tribute tomorrow—Mother's Day—to the women who have made America noble. They are the mothers of all of us.

THE NO STRIKE PLEDGE

Renewal of the United Steelworkers' no strike pledge at their Cleveland convention is a heartening demonstration of the fact that labor, on the whole, has put its brain, its brains and its heart into the winning of the war.

The pledge has not ended strikes among the various groups which have adopted it as a union policy for the duration but it has helped greatly in minimizing them. Most of the work stoppages have been of the "wildcat" kind, called by local groups of workers and often against the advice of their leaders. In many cases, responsible union heads have done valuable work in getting the men back on their jobs after these sporadic outbreaks.

The moral effect of the pledge is important. Hot-heads who call walkouts are striking not only against their employer and their country but against their own labor union as well. Usually they lack support outside their own group and as a consequence most of these strikes have been of short duration.

The original no strike pledge was made at the beginning of the war when all America was swept by a wave of patriotism and "win the war" spirit. Voluntary renewal after more than two years of serious thought and experience is a demonstration that responsible labor men still consider victory their most important job.

THE NEW SECRETARY

Appointment of James V. Forrestal to succeed the late Frank Knox as secretary of the navy is probably as popular an appointment as President Roosevelt has made in any of his three administrations. In Washington Democrats and Republicans alike applauded the selection.

Mr. Forrestal won the promotion for outstanding service in helping Mr. Knox build the largest navy in the world in an unbelievably short time. He has been a worker and not a talker, which is something the public likes, and he has kept himself free from Washington squabbles.

He learned the fundamentals of navy service the hard way for he entered the first World war as a seaman and came out as an ensign. Before this country entered the war he was one of the first to recognize the need of a powerful navy and to do something about it. He has been Secretary Knox's right hand man in providing the ships and the men to run them and to him belongs a lot of the credit for what the American sea forces have been doing to the Japanese in the Pacific.

Some of the popularity of his appointment may be due to the fact that he is listed as a Democrat although he has not worked very much at this side of his life. There are some things to be said in favor of a bipartisan government in wartime but the idea does not sit well with the politicians.

Mr. Forrestal takes office under auspicious surroundings and with practically unanimous good wishes of these United States which look to him to carry forward the work so successfully started.

RED CROSS EFFICIENCY

Maybe the kind ladies who win eternal gratitude from service men by knitting sweaters won't believe this but the Red Cross vouchers for its authenticity.

A shipment of sweaters was being landed at Attu when a wave overturned the boat and they were dumped in the sea. The Red Cross worker rescued them and dried them but found that the salt water had caused the colors to run, giving them the effect of camouflage suits worn by jungle fighters. He was about to send them back to the United States to be re-dyed.

However, the soldiers were cold. The resourceful worker passed out word that he had some fine sweaters but unfortunately a mistake had been made and they were jungle sweaters. The soldiers pounced on them and wore them with special pride because they figured they were slipping something over on their pals at the other end of the Pacific.

That shows one of the many ways in which the Red Cross meets an emergency.

There's another Red Cross item that calls for presentation here although it has nothing to do with sweaters. The organization urgently needs young women between the ages of 23 and 35 to serve as assistants overseas. It is important and interesting work.

and one of the best ways in which qualified women can help the service men and contribute to the winning of the war. Prompt action is called for since the Red Cross will follow the invasion away, bringing its services to the liberated territories.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, May 14

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a rather adverse one, with many phases of difficulties and perplexities. Routine matters may not turn into prolific or satisfactory channels, unless the light of new ideas or out-of-the-orthodox or conventional manner of doing things be adapted and with skill and innovation. The curious, strange and novel has some chance of furnishing productive results. In romantic or emotional connections there may be strange or dramatic moments with high adventure and thrills, of a gratifying nature. Keep restrained and poised.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year for expressing novel ideas, or unusual bright ways of doing old things, with perhaps spectacular results or some measure of public success or approval for daring to be independent and original. Use ingenuity and discard all that may be effete or outmoded and progress awaits. In social affairs there may likewise be the thrill of novelty, the adventurous and unconventional, perhaps sensational.

A child born on this day may have originality, unique skills or ideas, running counter to the usual course of events, in its private as well as business aspirations.

For Monday, May 15

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a day of definite openings for using a situation to build a secure and enduring future, with stable position and industrial security, although the very effort at such solidification entails some risks. A tendency to over-expensive ideas and prodigality in the outlay of funds or other substance might prove hazardous. It might be advisable to confer with wiser heads and to conserve the energies and resources and not be influenced by impulse or emotionalism.

Those whose birthday it is may have a substantial opportunity for making the future stable by industry, diligence and the accumulation of real possessions. However, this situation may be put in jeopardy by an extravagant use of funds, resources and energies, or the possible tendency to be governed by the emotions or impulses in making decisions. It might be well to consult elders or superiors. A child born on this day may have much stability but may be governed by its emotions or extravagances.

I saw an ME109 coming in. He came boring in straight at me without firing a shot. I wondered: "When will that crazy guy ever turn off?" Then I knew why. That Messerschmitt was piloted by a dead one. At the last second I shoved the wheel forward and prayed... he took off our aerial.—Lt. John M. Gibbons after Berlin attack.

Education too often is placed on a production line basis. Textbook learning alone does not equip a boy properly to meet the complications of modern life.—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Praise the wise man behind his back, but a woman to her face.—Welsh proverb.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

The Elements of Balanced Diet

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
LET NO ONE suppose from the speculations which follow that I am advocating anything other than a balanced diet. A balanced diet should include in some meal

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

of the day: (1) a fresh fruit (preferably orange, grapefruit, lemon or lime juice); (2) an animal protein—milk, eggs or meat; (3) a cereal or grain—oatmeal, rice or bread; (4) one or two vegetables—one preferably green or pigmented—which means a choice of peas, beans, carrots, asparagus, cabbage, potato, spinach, celery, onions, corn, soybeans, tomatoes, etc.; (5) roughage—from fruit pulp, vegetable fiber, celery, salads.

If you eat some of each item you will get all the vitamins, minerals and protein building and replacement material you can use. You will probably get all the energy—calories—you need, but if not this is easy to remedy by adding those articles that man's ingenuity and industry has perfected for this purpose—sugar and butter and salad dressing and jellies and dessert and extra helpings.

Common Custom
Now there is nothing darkly wise or inspirational about this list. It is common custom. It is what most of you, I hope, have been eating every day all your life.

You could hardly sit down to three meals any day anywhere in any North American city without having a representative of each group offered you. Dietetics as a science did not evolve a formula out of an experimental laboratory. It found healthy men eating certain groups of foods and by experimental, scientific methods showed why they were healthy and why the combination made a balanced diet. Man didn't learn to eat properly from the science of dietetics. Dietetics learned from man what was proper to eat.

This is the balanced diet used by man in a state of civilization, where agriculture and industry and transportation bring all sorts of foods to his larger all the year round. But in these troublous times, of possible food shortages, of possible famine, one wonders whether this list can be concentrated or contracted.

Home Economics Group
Enjoys Mexican Picnic

DAMASCUS, May 13.—Members of the Home Economics club of the Coshen High school held their annual senior farewell at Seaveken lake Thursday evening.

The event was a Mexican fiesta picnic with members wearing leis of colored crepe paper. The menu was prepared and served by the group from a chuck wagon.

The club room was decorated Mexican style, a feature being a railroad map of 1890, loaned by E. W. Cline.

The program consisted of Mexican song fiesta led by Lois Beck; Mexican trip and Mexican hat dance by the Sophomore girls; Emma Davis sang "The South American Way," a Mexican Romance modern ballad scene, written by Donna Jean Greenamyer was given by the 11th grade girls, the Golden Gavel ceremony was presented and the Home Economics poem, written by Miss Daisy Stackhouse, was read. Miss Irwin of the State Home Economics department, gave a talk and Supt. C. G. Long spoke briefly.

Other teachers present were Misses Adrienne Spahn, Dorothy Patton, Mary French and Sylvia Richards.

Mothers Are Honored
A Mothers' day chapel program was presented by pupils of the first and second grades taught by Miss Ethel Ladd and the third and fourth taught by Mrs. Glenn Bircher.

The event was held Thursday with songs by both groups and readings. Each child presented their mother with a corsage of spring flowers. Approximately 85 guests were present.

The Willow Vale school picnic will be held Thursday evening, May 18, at the Willow Grove grange hall with a basket picnic at 7:30. Neighbors and friends of the school are invited.

Are there any complete foods? Can man live on a single article of diet? If so what are those single complete articles of diet?

Single Articles of Food
Again the answer to this question is found in Nature, not the experimental laboratory. Some people live on a single article of diet—certain Orientals on rice; Eskimos on meat; the Irish once lived, if rumor hath it correct, only on potatoes. The Scotch on grain porridge. Infants live on milk. Groups of animals, differing in no way from man in their nutritional physiology, live on nuts or, in the case of other groups, on tubers and roots.

The key to the single complete food, according to the results of scientific inquiry, is whether its protein has the essential amino acids. All proteins are made up of a complex grouping of amino acids. Ten of these are essential for health and growth. Since our bodies are mostly protein, when there is waste it must be replaced with protein, and the protein must contain eight of the essential amino acids. One of them, arginine, is absolutely essential for growth, but after growth is complete the adult probably does not need this one.

Meat, milk, eggs, Brazil nuts and soybeans contain all the essential amino acids. They are the only foods man could subsist on, from birth to death without eating anything else.

Cereals and potatoes would qualify except they lack growth factors.

If the worst comes to the worst we may have to get down in this country to being soybean eaters. I understand you can grow enough in a flower pot on your window sill, if you water it regularly to turnish you with a complete protein. But, "Perish forbid," as Archie says, we will ever come to that.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

P. M. L.—Is the Galatost powder a reliable test for sugar?

Answer: Galatost and Clinatost powders are the bismuth test which is just as reliable as the Benedict's (copper) test. None of them show how much sugar is present except roughly. If a quantitative report is desired, a laboratory test should be made.

R. O.—If a child of six sleeps twelve to fourteen hours every night is it a sign of vitamin deficiency?

Answer: "The amount of sleep necessary for children of 2 to 8 years of age is twelve hours," wrote Dr. Hurlbut, in Modern Ways With Children. The amount of sleep a child needs depends on many factors. Fourteen hours is not necessarily excessive for a 6 year old, and certainly does not indicate vitamin deficiency. This is a new one to blame on the vitamins.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. WASHINGTON, May 13.—The Dies committee on un-American activities apparently is on the way out.

The announcement of Rep. Martin Dies, Texas Democrat, to retire to private life was interpreted generally on Capitol Hill as the swan song for his committee.

The Dies group, created in 1938 to investigate subversive elements, has reported on the activities of Communists, Fascists, Nazis, German Bundists and others.

Recently Dies and the committee have faded from public notice, except for the chairman's radio debate with Walter Winchell, the columnist and commentator, a few weeks ago. Still pending before the group are probes of Winchell, the CIO political action committee and the Civil Service commission's procedure in checking the loyalty of government employees.

Dies recently hinted the committee's action was about completed, and Chairman Cochran (D-Mo.) of the house accounts committee said he believed the Dies group and other special probing bodies should be curbed.

DRAFT CHANGES

House Military Committee Chairman May (D-Ky.) hailed the new regulations liberalizing draft deferments for men over 26 as a step in the right direction. It was, he commented, what his committee had been trying to get draft officials to do for more than a year, that is "taking registrants by age groups."

BRITISH BASES

Diplomatic officials here expect the great American-built air base at Bermuda eventually will be made available for international civil aviation despite the fact such use now is prohibited by the 99-year lease under which Britain made the area available to this country.

Similar internationalization also may be applied to other strategically located units in the chain of eight 99-year bases. The whole question probably will be settled as part of the aviation conferences, scheduled to be held here later this year.

War Production Threatened By Drive To Unionize Management

- The drive of union leaders to unionize management, beginning with foreman, is a threat to the war production effort.
- It is a long step toward putting industrial management in the hands of union leaders.
- What kind of collective bargaining is it when union leaders sit on both sides of the table?
- It raises an issue which Congress must clarify by amending the necessary laws, including the War Labor Disputes act.
- Unless Congress acts, this crisis will further obstruct an all-out war production effort.

● The Automotive Council for War Production, representing 550 established companies employing 1,200,000 workers and delivering 20 per cent of the nation's war production, has authorized its president, Alvan Macauley, to make the following public statement and send it to the President, other government officials, and all members of Congress:

AT THIS most critical moment in history, on the eye of the great invasion of Europe which may settle the issue of human freedom for years to come, the public is entitled to know of a situation which threatens the success of that great effort.

The council has given careful consideration to the adverse effect on war production of the strike of foremen in the twelve plants of major war producers in the Detroit area and the still greater threat inherent in the organized drive to unionize management, beginning with foreman.

This is a long step toward putting industrial management in the hands of union leaders.

Successful business undertakings and great achievements depend on an organization responsive to the decision of those in charge. The commanding officers of production, like those of the Army, must have their captains and lieutenants, their sergeants and corporals. Foremen, supervisors and managers are officers in the production army.

The division of their obligations and responsibilities between management and any outside organization will be just as disastrous to our war production front as outside organization of the Army's officers to bargain and debate with their superiors would be at the battle-front. "No man can serve two masters."

The issue now is:

Can union leaders unionize management and take over control of war production?

Are their organizing drives for this purpose to be allowed to interfere with the efficiency and effectiveness of this production? Will they be allowed to disrupt American mass-production industry, one of the greatest assets of our country in both war and peace, by using it to experiment with a new and untried form of union-controlled management?

What kind of collective bargaining is it when union leaders sit on both sides of the table?

If management is to be unionized, where is union control to stop?

This issue results directly from the fact that the federal laws and their administration are vague and confused in respect to the status of management.

In the interest of the war effort, we urge Congress to make it clear that it does not intend to permit labor leaders to take over the management of our war production plants. This can and should be done immediately by clarifying and amending the necessary laws, particularly the War Labor Disputes Act.

The automotive industry is not only producing a large part of our national armament output, but is also the largest manufacturing industry in peacetime; thus the nation is relying upon its prompt reconversion to provide jobs after victory.

The council was created by the industry immediately after Pearl Harbor to expedite in every possible way the industry's war production efforts. This included exchange of production equipment, knowledge of production methods, and efficient use of scarce materials and manpower. This industry has done an outstanding war production job.

The council has never intervened in the collective bargaining problems of the employer-employee relations, and there is no intention to depart from this practice.

Unless Congress Acts, This Crisis will Further Obstruct an All-Out War Production Effort

Suppose there were no tomorrow—

Suppose there were no tomorrow? . . . Think about it for just a minute . . . No tomorrow for you, or your kid sister at home—or the brother who left for the Army yesterday. Did you ever think that we, who have had so few yesterdays, may have no tomorrows?

It has happened, you know. To Jack Feldman, and Bob Ernest—and fifteen others who sat in our classes just last term . . .

They will have no tomorrows. They died before they ever had a try at living . . . so that we might have our chance.

There are millions who were asked to give up more than a double feature at the Earle . . . or a spiffy, new pair of pumps for next week's formal. A soda is a pretty insignificant sacrifice, when you think of—

The kids in Russia, who live on a few ounces of cereal a day. They've never seen an ice cream soda.

The Polish boys and girls, who would be in school right now, just as we are . . . if there were any schools left.

The French youths who've never had a hamburger on a date—or any other time, for that matter. They are old, very old . . . older than you and I will ever be . . .

There are millions of them . . . in Norway . . . Holland . . . Denmark . . . Belgium . . . They would stare in amazement if they could be here to see—

A jalopy painted bright yellow. "The Tin You Love to Touch" printed in big, green letters on the back.

A high school senior, uncomfortable in his first tuxedo . . . calling for his date, looking nervous.

Millions of things that we take for granted . . .

"Hey, Maestro! Play 'Stardust'!"

. . . There is such a feeling of permanency in our tight little world. We'll go to school with the gang, today . . . and tomorrow . . .

But, WHAT IF THERE WERE NO TOMORROW? There's only one way to be sure, you know—

Buy War Bonds . . . That's a simple little phrase. It's the American way of saying what we mean in a few direct words. Buy War Bonds.

Yes—you and everybody must buy War Bonds. We've got to buy more and more, and more of 'em. Just get the idea into your head that your $18.75 might—just might end the war one-fifth of one second sooner. That maybe, in that one-fifth of a second, the boy next door could be on the receiving end of a bullet . . . Then you'll know it's worth it!

We've got to keep on plugging, saving, convincing. Giving our pin money . . .

Tell everybody—sell everybody! We can't take no for an answer . . . tomorrow—and tomorrow—and tomorrow.

Let's All KEEP BACKING THE ATTACK!

Quakers Win County Championship Easily At East Palestine

Salem Team Is First In All But Three Events, Gather 80 1/2 Points And Trophies

Coming home with the county championship, all the trophies, 80 1/2 points, and firsts in 11 of the 14 events, Coach Fred Cope's Salem team swept the 41st annual Columbiana county track and field meet last night in East Palestine.

Second honors and the three remaining first places went to W. E. Ward's East Palestine Bulldogs, who compiled 50 1/2 points while Columbiana was garnering 11 and East Liverpool 8 1/6.

The Quakers received the trophy signifying their county championship, the 880 yard relay trophy, and the mile relay award. Charles Dunlap rounded things out by winning the trophy for high point man in the meet with his 18 points.

East Palestine managed to take three firsts from the Salemites by winning the shot put, high hurdles and the broad jump. Bob Wade nosed Charles Dunlap out in the broad jump with a leap of 19 feet four and a half inches, considerably under Dunlap's past performances.

Scores 18 Points
The dusky Quaker took firsts in the 100 yard dash, the 220 yard dash and the high jump. His three points for second in the broad jump brought his total to 18 points.

Frank Entrikey, dependable Quaker ace, also came through with his share of the honors by garnering in 13 points with firsts in the pole vault and low hurdles and a second in the high hurdles. Tony Hoover, regular Salem miler, won his usual event and went into a new field to pull down five points for first in the half mile run. Hoover did the mile run in four minutes 46.7 seconds, his second best time in competition this season. His total of 10 points placed him third among stars in the four-way affair.

Other firsts came when Walt Brian threw the discus 117 feet five inches and by virtue of Ed Perko's 440 yard dash in 54.2 seconds, Salem's half mile and mile relay squads also broke the tape ahead of the field.

Bill Stout and Mutt Schaeffer each chalked up three points by nabbing second in the 220 yard and 440 dash respectively. Both athletes have been improving all year and Cope expects good showings from them in the NEO district meet.

Bob Shea tied for second in the pole vault and Jay Leach threw the discus 111 feet two inches for number two place in that event.

The Quakers will be idle through the week until the all-important meet of the year, the NEO district event, here Saturday. Cope hasn't announced final entry lists on the affair as yet, but expects from 20 to 25 teams to take part.

FIRST GAME PITS CHINA AND MONKS IN CLASH MONDAY

News Booked With Paxson Team In Second Class A Softball Game

Class A softball opening day has been set for Monday, with the powerful Salem China's facing an all-High school Monks squad in the first match of the 1944 city season. Operations start with the Monks-China game at 6 p. m. Monday and will be followed by a game between the Paxson outfit and the newly organized Salem News squad. Both are new teams to the A league this year.

A good indication of the China's power will be derived from their first test against the younger, but plenty potent-at-the-plate Monks team. Meeting Pitcher Dale Ritchie for the first time in Class A will be a hard assignment for some of the Monks lads who are playing their first in the higher bracket, but a majority of the players have faced him before.

The China squad will find no set-up in Francis Lanney, who is slated for mound duty with Monks. Lanney turned in some top-notch shows last season in the A league and makes excellent use of his fast spinning pitch.

Two Untried Teams Meet
In the second game of the first evening at the park, two untried ball clubs will face each other for their initial 1944 games. Paxsons, another all-High school team, have a creditable looking lineup with three from last year's Strains team, several from Class B in 1943, and some new recruits.

Dick Hahn and Paul Horning are booked to share the pitching assignments with Young Jim Primm behind the plate. Walt Brian will be at third, his place last year, Bill Vignovich at first, Chris Papadakis at second, Don Oesch at short and Johnnie Pozniko in the roving short job.

In the outfield Manager Paul Horning has booked Jack Resatka, Walt Andres and Pete Cibula, who will probably divide the duties with Ben Brudery and Charles "Mutt" Schaeffer.

The roster of the Salem News squad includes Fred Cope and Chet Batting as pitchers, Paul Dodez behind the plate, Glenn Coughlin on third base and Charles Malloy at short. Ted Jones will cover first and Don Beattie Second.

Cope Or Brautigam To Pitch
Julius Falk will be roving shortstop and Jim Middleton, a new comer to Salem softball from Sidney, will work in centerfield. The other two outfield jobs will be taken care of by Ben Kupka and Dick Falk.

Either Cope or Brautigam will pitch Monday and the other will probably work in the outfield or in the shortstop position, as Malley will not play with the squad the first game. Also booked for action with the News later in the year is Loren Early, a veteran ball player who has never participated in the Salem leagues.

Joe Kelley, league manager, said today that another entry is expected in the A league. Demings have notified Kelley of their intentions to participate in the league, but a complete list of players is not available.

SIX READY TO GO IN RICHEST RACE AT PIMLICO TODAY

Pensive Favored to Repeat; Platter Is Second Choice

BY DONALD SANDERS
BALTIMORE, May 13.—Pensive attempts today to make his Kentucky Derby victory stick as he faces six other three-year-olds for the richest Preakness purse in history.

Warren Wright's son of Hyperion, who scored a surprise triumph by his stretch drive at Louisville, went out for the second leg of the triple crown and a strong bid for divisional honors against four thoroughbreds he whipped in the Derby and two others.

A crowd of 35,000 or more was expected to pack Pimlico for the 54th running of Maryland's most famous contest for a blanket of black-eyed susans, the Ancient Woodlawn vase and a winner's check for $60,710 out of a gross value of $80,210.

The weather forecast was fair and warm and the track was fast. Post-time was fixed at 4:05 p. m. (EWT).

Pensive was a slight favorite over George D. Widener's Platter, with Stir Up, the beaten Derby favorite from Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable, third choice. Platter passed up the Derby.

Eddie Arcaro, who had no excuse for Stir Up after the Derby, was seeking his second Preakness victory with the son of Stimulus, for he was on Whirlaway when the money winning champion came home first.

Others named to go to postward were Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Stymlie, Gay Bit, the stretch runner from the Bobanet stables of Baltimorean R. Bruce Livie, A. C. Ernst's Alorter and Gramps Image.

"Powerhouse" Paul Walker, sensational freshman athlete at Yale, is the son of Fred M. Walker of the great University of Chicago grid teams in 1905-06.

Bank barn about 60x20, under slate roof. This is a stock barn. Electric pump which pumps water to the house and barn. Two-car brick garage attached to side of house. New cement block milk house, double corn crib, 2 chicken houses and other necessary out-buildings. There is a large amount of coal under this farm. Some young timber growing into money. Soldiers Are Given
Realistic Training
In Abandoning Ship

(By United Press)
CAMP SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal. — For soldiers who may some time hear the order, "Abandon Ship!" Camp San Luis Obispo recently instituted a water safety course which might mean the difference between life and death.

Engineers at the camp have constructed a replica of the side of a sinking ship and two jumping towers beside an open-air swimming pool. In groups of 50, the men enter the training area dressed in fatigues to hear an explanation and demonstration of the life belt.

Special stress is given to the position of the life belt while the soldier is in the water. It has been found that the belt will keep the soldier on his back. This places the inflation tubes in front where the soldier can refill the belt with carbon dioxide capsules.

The student then mounts the ladders to the top of the 16-foot "ship" and descends by means of guy ropes with knots from 16 to 18 inches apart. He is impressed with the fact he must take off from the ship as quickly as possible and remain in the immediate vicinity of the sinking ship so he may be picked up more readily.

After going down the ropes, the student swims the length of the pool to the diving board, where he is taught how to jump in to the water, standing straight and relaxed, his feet close together and his hands gripping the life belt.
He then steps off, hitting the water feet first. He repeats this from a six-foot tower and a 12-foot tower.
The course ends when the soldier puts on his shoes, straps on a pack, tightens up his helmet liner and is given a simulated rifle weighing as much as an M-1. With his life belt in proper position, he then swims across the pool and returns.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

don't exact unconditional surrender from Germany and Japan.

WE HAVE SWORN that Nazism and Prussian militarism shall be utterly destroyed in Germany, and that militarism shall be pulled up by the roots in Japan. We've sworn that the territories stolen by both countries shall be returned to their rightful owners. We've sworn to render both Germany and Japan utterly impotent militarily. We've sworn to punish war guilt.

How, say you, could we achieve all this unless unconditional surrender were exacted—unless we dictated the terms? Obviously it would be impossible. Thousands of our boys who already have made the great sacrifice, and other thousands who at this moment are giving themselves for the bloody beaches of D-day, would have fought for a will-o'-the-wisp.

The Germans are great on synthetic productions. The thing we've got to watch out for is that they don't put over a synthetic peace.
Still, while the Allies propose to purge Germany and Japan (and the rest of 'em so far as they deserve), we have no intention of reverting to barbarism to do it. It's the Allied purpose to help the defeated nations to become useful citizens in a decent world.

Exchanges included 5,168,000 plugs have lived in town all their lives

it, except that the wife gets frantic

A MEDAL for MOTHER
Mother's Day, May 14

"Mom, I got the medal. I am sending it to you," wrote Charles "Commando" Kelly from Italy. General Mark Clark had just pinned on his breast the Congressional Medal of Honor, while the entire Sixth Division of the Fifth Army stood at attention.

Then Mother got the medal. Why not? Her boy, her medal. We all feel as Soldier Kelly did. If we do anything that shines in the world we want her to have credit. If we haven't done anything much to date, we are still trying—for her sake.

Mother means everything in the world to us.
She is the best soldier, the greatest morale builder, the most powerful force for victory that we have.

TRIBUTE TO MOTHER

Down through American history a light, burning cheerily in the window, has typified the welcome that awaits a young man or a young woman returning to hearthside—and to Mother.

Woodsmen who pioneered in the days when our nation was young saw a candle glowing in the window of a rude cabin as they plodded homeward at journey's end; patriots saw the same gleam when wars came to a close; collegians have looked forth to its cheeriness as holidays approached.

Always the light has betokened Mother's welcome.

Today, when American boys serve on foreign strands, when training camps and battlefields grow deadly monotonous, thoughts of Mother and the home she has enshrined beckon to them as a light guiding their footsteps from the wilderness. No one thought has so affected the destiny of men's lives—even history itself—as that for the gentle, kindly woman known by men great and small as Mother.

Today mothers the world over, like those in our own community, bear heart-heavy burdens. They fear for sons in the armed forces, sons who are always in their thoughts. Few soldiers or sailors, even in the battle zones, know the strain which is their mothers' everyday lot as a result of the world ablaze.

Let us with deepest gratitude pay tribute tomorrow—Mother's Day—to the women who have made America noble. They are the mothers of all of us.

THE NO STRIKE PLEDGE

Renewal of the United Steelworkers' no strike pledge at their Cleveland convention is a heartening demonstration of the fact that labor, on the whole, has put its brawn, its brains and its heart into the winning of the war.

The pledge has not ended strikes among the various groups which have adopted it as a union policy for the duration but it has helped greatly in minimizing them. Most of the work stoppages have been of the "wildcat" kind, called by local groups of workers and often against the advice of their leaders. In many cases, responsible union heads have done valuable work in getting the men back on their jobs after these sporadic outbreaks.

The moral effect of the pledge is important. Hot-heads who call walkouts are striking not only against their employer and their country but against their own labor union as well. Usually they lack support outside their own group and as a consequence most of these strikes have been of short duration.

The original no strike pledge was made at the beginning of the war when all America was swept by a wave of patriotism and "win the war" spirit. Voluntary renewal after more than two years of serious thought and experience is a demonstration that responsible labor men still consider victory their most important job.

THE NEW SECRETARY

Appointment of James V. Forrestal to succeed the late Frank Knox as secretary of the navy is probably as popular an appointment as President Roosevelt has made in any of his three administrations. In Washington Democrats and Republicans alike applauded the selection.

Mr. Forrestal won the promotion for outstanding service in helping Mr. Knox build the largest navy in the world in an unbelievably short time. He has been a worker and not a talker, which is something the public likes, and he has kept himself free from Washington squabbles.

He learned the fundamentals of navy service the hard way for he entered the first World War as a seaman and came out as an ensign.

Before this country entered the war he was one of the first to recognize the need of a powerful navy and to do something about it. He has been Secretary Knox's right hand man in providing the ships and the men to run them and to him belongs a lot of the credit for what the American sea forces have been doing to the Japanese in the Pacific.

Some of the popularity of his appointment may be due to the fact that he is listed as a Democrat although he has not worked very much at this side of his life. There are some things to be said in favor of a bipartisan government in wartime but the idea does not sit well with the politicians.

Mr. Forrestal takes office under auspicious surroundings and with practically unanimous good wishes of these United States which look to him to carry forward the work so successfully started.

RED CROSS EFFICIENCY

Maybe the kind ladies who win eternal gratitude from service men by knitting sweaters won't believe this but the Red Cross vouchers for its authenticity.

A shipment of sweaters was being landed at Attu when a wave overturned the boat and they were dumped in the sea. The Red Cross worker rescued them and dried them but found that the salt water had caused the colors to run, giving them the effect of camouflage suits worn by jungle fighters. He was about to send them back to the United States to be re-dyed.

However, the soldiers were cold. The resourceful worker passed out word that he had some fine sweaters but unfortunately a mistake had been made and they were jungle sweaters. The soldiers pounced on them and wore them with special pride because they figured they were slipping something over on their pals at the other end of the Pacific.

That shows one of the many ways in which the Red Cross meets an emergency.

There's another Red Cross item that calls for presentation here although it has nothing to do with sweaters. The organization urgently needs young women between the ages of 23 and 35 to serve as assistants overseas. It is important and interesting work and one of the best ways in which qualified women can help the service men and contribute to the winning of the war. Prompt action is called for since the Red Cross will follow the invasion away, bringing its services to the liberated territories.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, May 14

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a rather adverse one, with many phases of difficulties and perplexities. Routine matters may not turn into prolific or satisfactory channels, unless the light of new ideas or out-of-the-orthodox or conventional manner of doing things be adapted and with skill and innovation. The curious, strange and novel has some chance of furnishing productive results. In romantic or emotional connections there may be strange or dramatic moments with high adventure and thrills, of a gratifying nature. Keep restrained and poised.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year for expressing novel ideas, or unusual bright ways of doing old things, with perhaps spectacular results or some measure of public success or approval for daring to be independent and original. Use ingenuity and discard all that may be effete or outmoded and progress awaits. In social affairs there may likewise be the thrill of novelty, the adventurous and unconventional, perhaps sensational.

A child born on this day may have originality, unique skills or ideas, running counter to the usual course of events, in its private as well as business aspirations.

For Monday, May 15

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a day of definite openings for using a situation to build a secure and enduring future, with stable position and industrial security, although the very effort at such solidification entails some risks. A tendency to over-expensive ideas and prodigality in the outlay of funds or other substance might prove hazardous. It might be advisable to confer with wiser heads and to conserve the energies and resources and not be influenced by impulse or emotionality.

Those whose birthday it is may have a substantial opportunity for making the future stable by industry, diligence and the accumulation of real possessions. However, this situation may be put in jeopardy by an extravagant use of funds, resources and energies, or the possible tendency to be governed by the emotions or impulses in making decisions. It might be well to consult elders or superiors. A child born on this day may have much stability but may be governed by its emotions or extravagances.

I saw an ME109 coming in. He came boring in straight at me without firing a shot. I wondered: "When will that crazy guy ever turn off?" Then I knew why. That Messerschmitt was piloted by a dead one. At the last second I shoved the wheel forward and prayed... he took off our aerial.—Lt. John M. Gibbons after Berlin attack.

Education too often is placed on a production line basis. Textbook learning alone does not equip a boy properly to meet the complications of modern life.—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Praise the wise man behind his back, but a woman to her face.—Welsh proverb.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

The Elements of Balanced Diet

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
LET NO ONE suppose from the speculations which follow that I am advocating anything other than a balanced diet. A balanced diet should include in some meal

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

of the day: (1) a fresh fruit (preferably orange, grapefruit, lemon or lime juice); (2) an animal protein—milk, eggs or meat; (3) a cereal or grain—oatmeal, rice or bread; (4) one or two vegetables—either preferably green or pigmented—which means a choice of peas, beans, carrots, asparagus, cabbage, potato, spinach, celery, onions, corn, soybeans, tomatoes, etc.; (5) roughage—from fruit pulp, vegetable fiber, celery, salads. If you eat some of each item you will get all the vitamins, minerals and protein building and replacement material you can use. You will probably get all the energy—calories—you need, but if not this is easy to remedy by adding those articles that man's ingenuity and industry has perfected for this purpose—sugar and butter and salad dressing and jellies and dessert and extra helpings.

Common Custom
Now there is nothing darkly wise or inspirational about this list. It is common custom. It is what most of you, I hope, have been eating every day all your life.

If you eat some of each item you will get all the vitamins, minerals and protein building and replacement material you can use. You will probably get all the energy—calories—you need, but if not this is easy to remedy by adding those articles that man's ingenuity and industry has perfected for this purpose—sugar and butter and salad dressing and jellies and dessert and extra helpings.

This is the balanced diet used by man in a state of civilization, where agriculture and industry and transportation bring all sorts of foods to his larger all the year round. But in these troublous times, of possible food shortages, of possible famine, one wonders whether this list can be concentrated or contracted.

WASHINGTON, May 13. — The Dies committee on unAmerican activities apparently is on the way out.

The announcement of Rep. Martin Dies, Texas Democrat, to retire to private life was interpreted generally on Capitol Hill as the swan song for his committee.

The Dies group, created in 1938 to investigate subversive elements, has reported on the activities of Communists, Fascists, Nazis, German Bundists and others.

Recently Dies and the committee have faded from public notice, except for the chairman's radio debate with Walter Winchell, the columnist and commentator, a few weeks ago. Still pending before the group are probes of Winchell, the CIO political action committee and the Civil Service commission's procedure in checking the loyalty of government employees.

Dies recently hinted the committee's action was about completed, and Chairman Cochran (D-Mo) of the house accounts committee said he believed the Dies group and other special probing bodies should be curbed.

DRAFT CHANGES

House Military Committee Chairman May (D-Ky) hailed the new regulations liberalizing draft deferments for men over 26 as a step in the right direction. It was, he commented, what his committee had been trying to get draft officials to do for more than a year, that is, "taking registrants by age groups."

BRITISH BASES

Diplomatic officials here expect the great American-built air base at Bermuda eventually will be made available for international civil aviation despite the fact such use now is prohibited by the 99-year lease under which Britain made the area available to this country.

Similar internationalization also may be applied to other strategically located units in the chain of eight 99-year bases. The whole question probably will be settled as part of the aviation conferences, scheduled to be held here later this year.

War Production Threatened By Drive To Unionize Management

● The drive of union leaders to unionize management, beginning with foreman, is a threat to the war production effort.

● It is a long step toward putting industrial management in the hands of union leaders.

● What kind of collective bargaining is it when union leaders sit on both sides of the table?

● It raises an issue which Congress must clarify by amending the necessary laws, including the War Labor Disputes act.

● Unless Congress acts, this crisis will further obstruct an all-out war production effort.

● The Automotive Council for War Production, representing 550 established companies employing 1,200,000 workers and delivering 20 per cent of the nation's war production, has authorized its president, Alvan Macauley, to make the following public statement and send it to the President, other government officials, and all members of Congress:

AT THIS most critical moment in history, on the eye of the great invasion of Europe which may settle the issue of human freedom for years to come, the public is entitled to know of a situation which threatens the success of that great effort.

The council has given careful consideration to the adverse effect on war production of the strike of foremen in the twelve plants of major war producers in the Detroit area and the still greater threat inherent in the organized drive to unionize management, beginning with foreman.

This is a long step toward putting industrial management in the hands of union leaders.

Successful business undertakings and great achievements depend on an organization responsive to the decision of those in charge. The commanding officers of production, like those of the Army, must have their captains and lieutenants, their sergeants and corporals. Foremen, supervisors and managers are officers in the production army.

The division of their obligations and responsibilities between management and any outside organization will be just as disastrous to our war production front as outside organization of the Army's officers to bargain and debate with their superiors would be at the battle-front. "No man can serve two masters."

The issue now is:

Can union leaders unionize management and take over control of war production?

Are their organizing drives for this purpose to be allowed to interfere with the efficiency and effectiveness of this production? Will they be allowed to disrupt American mass-production industry, one of the greatest assets of our country in both war and peace, by using it to experiment with a new and untried form of union-controlled management?

What kind of collective bargaining is it when union leaders sit on both sides of the table?

If management is to be unionized, where is union control to stop?

This issue results directly from the fact that the federal laws and their administration are vague and confused in respect to the status of management.

In the interest of the war effort, we urge Congress to make it clear that it does not intend to permit labor leaders to take over the management of our war production plants. This can and should be done immediately by clarifying and amending the necessary laws, particularly the War Labor Disputes Act.

The automotive industry is not only producing a large part of our national armament output, but is also the largest manufacturing industry in peacetime; thus the nation is relying upon its prompt reconversion to provide jobs after victory.

The council was created by the industry immediately after Pearl Harbor to expedite in every possible way the industry's war production efforts. This included exchange of production equipment, knowledge of production methods, and efficient use of scarce materials and manpower. This industry has done an outstanding war production job.

The council has never intervened in the collective bargaining problems of the employer-employee relations, and there is no intention to depart from this practice.

Unless Congress Acts, This Crisis will Further Obstruct an All-Out War Production Effort

A Model is Murdered ~ BABS LEE

CHAPTER TEN
Argus watched Ellen as she talked. There was a tonic quality in her very appearance, he thought. "Syria ever get chummy with any of the girls she worked with?" he asked.

"No. She was the silent, mysterious type."

"But she must've been seen around. I thought all these glamour girls were always being taken to fancy dives by fancy boy friends."

"She may have," said Ellen. "Seems to me I did hear a rumor that Syria had some man on the string, but I never learned who it was—aside from Sturgis, of course."

"How was she liked generally?"

"The girls didn't understand her. I don't think they disliked her, but she wasn't exactly friendly with anyone," Ellen paused. "I've been thinking about Dorry—you remember—the girl Bill Carstairs was with in the Penguin club? Ever since I heard about Syria's being shot, I've worried about that gun Dorry was carrying."

"Maybe she was going to use it on Carstairs," Argus suggested. "It would have been a temptation."

"She seemed plenty burned up about Bill's phoning Syria. Did the police mention either of them in connection with the murder?"

"No."

A man with a camera under his arm approached them. In his wake was the indignant receptionist.

"Here!" she called. "You can't barge in here like that without Mr. Flagg's permission. What do you think this is?" The cameraman ignored her and smiled at Argus as though he were a bosom friend.

"I heard you were here, Argus," he said familiarly. Steele had never seen the man before. "I'm still on the Blade—you remember." He winked at Argus broadly. "I just want to get some shots of you with some of these models."

He turned. There were four girls coming up behind him. The receptionist shrugged a gesture of hopelessness and returned to her duties.

"I've never seen you before, and I'm not at all sure that I'm going to work on this case," Argus said.

"Sure, I know. But give me a break, will you? I was sent up here to get a picture of the office and Mr. Flagg and the girls. I find you here—one of the greatest gumshoes in the business. It's a natural, isn't it?" He began to adjust his camera. "Now girls stand over here by Mr. Steele and sort of drape yourselves around. You too, sister. He motioned to Ellen. She tried to hide a grin.

"The girls clustered around Argus. "That's it," said the bulb-bomber. "Get closer. Look at Mr. Steele and smile. Put your arm around 'em, Mr. Steele." Two of them, a blonde and a brunette, snuggled against him. Argus frowned—a mock frown, to be sure.

"Look pleasant, Mr. Steele. Maybe you don't want any publicity, but think of these girls here. It's going to help their careers." He winked again.

"How's this?" Argus asked, grinning, his arms full of models.

"That's it," said the photographer. A flash bulb exploded in their faces. Argus blinked. The girls laughed.

"What's going on here?" Flagg asked, coming into the room.

"Just taking a few pictures for the Blade," the lens ranger replied. "I'd like to get a shot of you with these models."

"Sorry," said Flagg. "Some other time."

"But, just one—"

"No," declared Flagg.

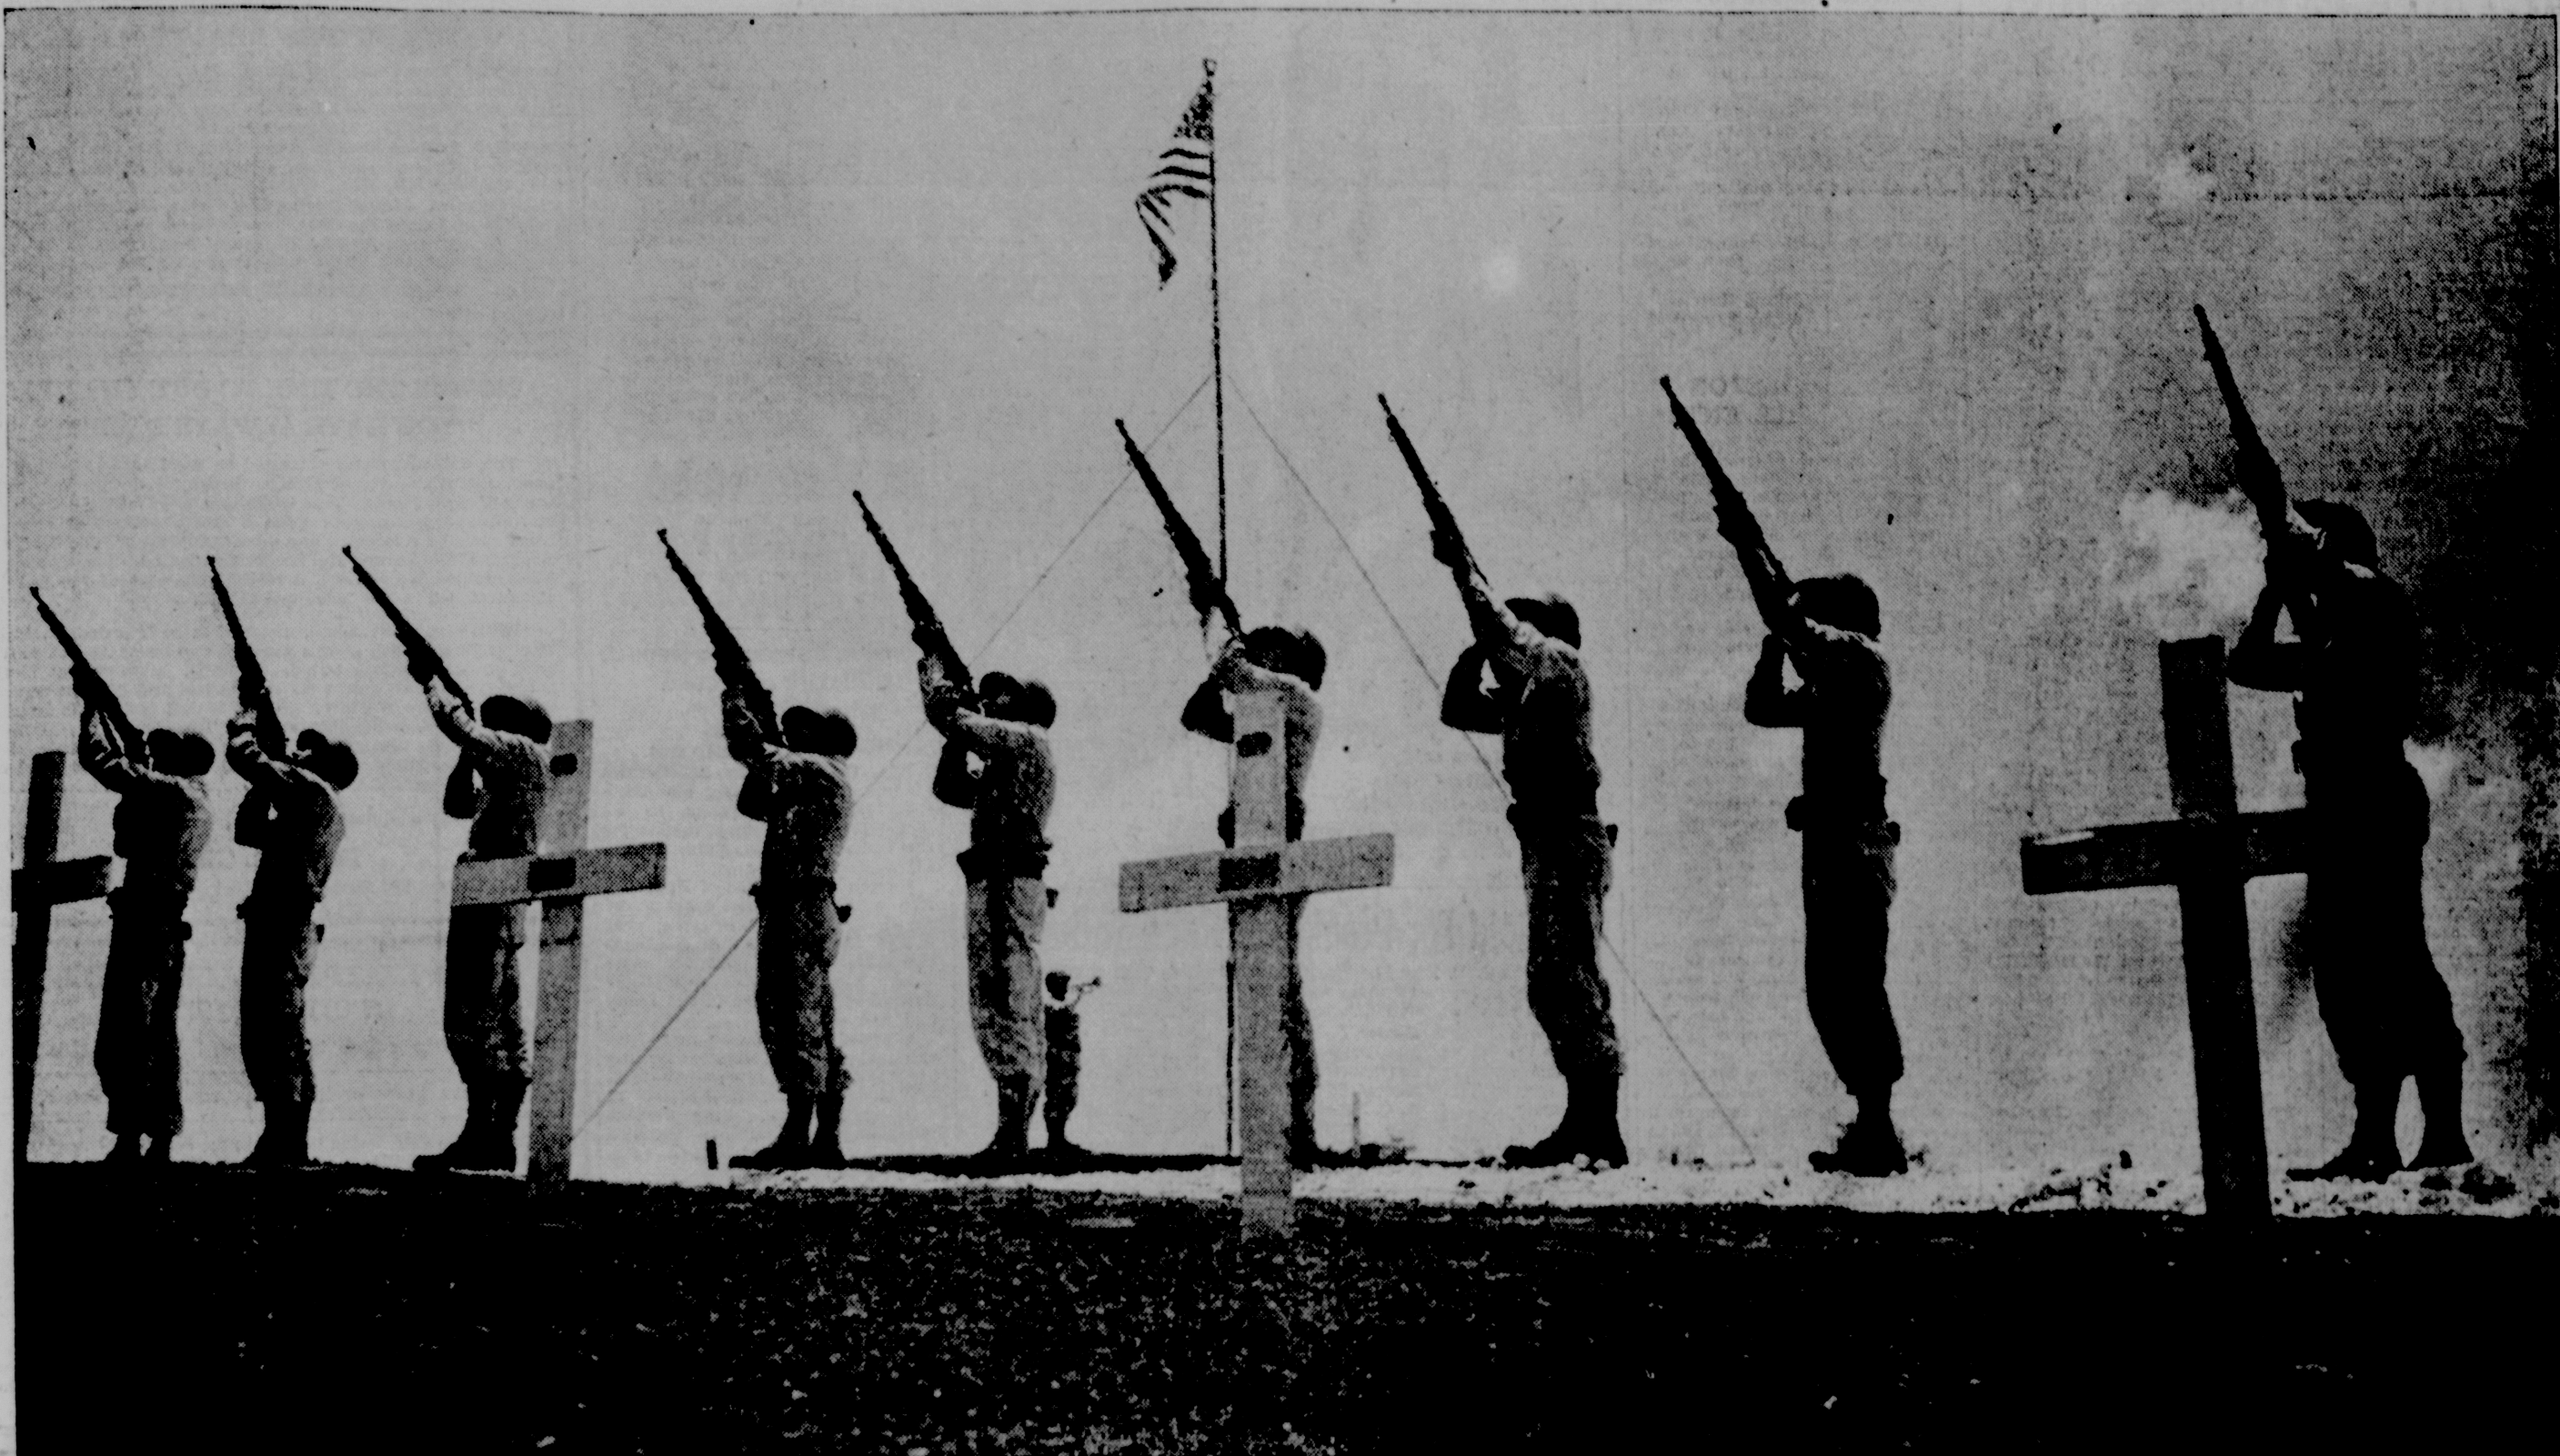

"Oke!" grinned the youth with a shrug. "Thanks, Mr. Steele," he said. "Much obliged, girls." He put away his camera and left.

"What time is it?" Ellen asked. Flagg glanced at his wrist. It was bare.

Memorial service for American Soldiers and Marines killed on Cape Gloucester, New Britain. Signal Corps Photo

Suppose there were no tomorrow—

Suppose there were no tomorrow? . . . Think about it for just a minute . . . No tomorrow for you, or your kid sister at home—or the brother who left for the Army yesterday. Did you ever think that we, who have had so few yesterdays, may have no tomorrows?

It has happened, you know. To Jack Feldman, and Bob Ernest—and fifteen others who sat in our classes just last term . . .

They will have no tomorrows. They died before they ever had a try at living . . . so that we might have our chance.

There are millions who were asked to give up more than a double feature at the Earle . . . or a spiffy, new pair of pumps for next week's formal. A soda is a pretty insignificant sacrifice, when you think of—

The kids in Russia, who live on a few ounces of cereal a day. They've never seen an ice cream soda.

The Polish boys and girls, who would be in school right now, just as we are . . . if there were any schools left.

The French youths who've never had a hamburger on a date—or any other time, for that matter. They are old, very old . . . older than you and I will ever be . . .

There are millions of them . . . in Norway . . . Holland . . . Denmark . . . Belgium . . . They would stare in amazement if they could be here to see—

A jalopy painted bright yellow. "The Tin You Love to Touch" printed in big, green letters on the back.

A high school senior, uncomfortable in his first tuxedo . . . calling for his date, looking nervous.

Millions of things that we take for granted . . .

"Hey, Maestro! Play 'Stardust'!"

. . . There is such a feeling of permanency in our tight little world. We'll go to school with the gang, today . . . and tomorrow . . .

But, WHAT IF THERE WERE NO TOMORROW? There's only one way to be sure, you know—

Buy War Bonds . . . That's a simple little phrase. It's the American way of saying what we mean in a few direct words. Buy War Bonds.

Yes—you and everybody must buy War Bonds. We've got to buy more and more, and more of 'em. Just get the idea into your head that your $18.75 might—just might end the war one-fifth of one second sooner. That maybe, in that one-fifth of a second, the boy next door could be on the receiving end of a bullet . . . Then you'll know it's worth it!

We've got to keep on plugging, saving, convincing. Giving our pin money . . .

Tell everybody—sell everybody! We can't take no for an answer . . . tomorrow—and tomorrow—and tomorrow.

Let's All KEEP BACKING THE ATTACK!

Quakers Win County Championship Easily At East Palestine

Salem Team Is First In All But Three Events, Gather 80 1/2 Points And Trophies

Coming home with the county championship, all the trophies, 80 1/2 points, and firsts in 11 of the 14 events, Coach Fred Cope's Salem High track squad made an almost clean sweep of the 41st annual Columbiana county track and field meet last night in East Palestine.

Second honors and the three remaining first places went to W. E. Ward's East Palestine Bulldogs, who compiled 50 1/2 points while Columbiana was gathering 11 and East Liverpool 8 1/2.

The Quakers received the trophy signifying their county championship, the 880 yard relay trophy, and the mile relay award. Charles Dunlap rounded things out by winning the trophy for high point man in the meet with his 18 points.

East Palestine managed to take three firsts from the Salemites by winning the shot put, high hurdles and the broad jump. Bob Wade nosed Charles Dunlap out in the broad jump with a leap of 19 feet four and a half inches, considerably under Dunlap's past performances.

Scores 18 Points
The dusky Quaker took firsts in the 100 yard dash, the 220 yard dash and the high jump. His three points for second in the broad jump brought his total to 18 points.

Frank Enriken, dependable Quaker ace, also came through with his share of the honors by garnering 13 points with firsts in the pole vault and low hurdles and a second in the high hurdles.

Tony Hoover, regular Salem miler, won his usual event and went into a new field to pull down five points for first in the half mile run. Hoover did the mile run in four minutes 46.7 seconds, his second best time in competition this season. His total of 10 points placed him third among stars in the four-way affair.

Other firsts came when Walt Brian threw the discus 117 feet five inches and by virtue of Ed Perko's 440 yard dash in 54.2 seconds. Salem's half mile and mile relay squads also broke the tape ahead of the field.

Bill Stoudt and Mutt Schaeffer each chalked up three points by nabbing second in the 220 yard and 440 dash respectively. Both athletes have been improving all year and Cope expects good showings from them in the NEO district meet. Bob Shea tied for second in the pole vault and Jay Leach threw the discus 111 feet two inches for number two place in that event.

The Quakers will be idle through the week until the all-important meet of the year, the NEO district event, here Saturday. Cope hasn't announced final entry lists on the affair as yet, but expects from 20 to 25 teams to take part.

FIRST GAME PITS CHINA AND MONKS IN CLASH MONDAY

News Booked With Paxson Team In Second Class A Softball Game

Class A softball opening day has been set for Monday, with the powerful Salem Chinas facing an all-high school Monks squad in the first match of the 1944 city season. Operations start with the Monks-China game at 6 p. m. Monday and will be followed by a game between the Paxson outfit and the newly organized Salem News squad. Both are new teams to the A league this year.

A good indication of the Chinas power will be derived from their first test against the younger, but plenty potent-at-the-plate Monks team. Meeting Pitcher Dale Ritchie for the first time in Class A will be a hard assignment for some of the Monks lads who are playing their first in the higher bracket, but a majority of the players have faced him before.

The China squad will find no set-up in Francis Lanney, who is slated for mound duty with Monks. Lanney turned in some top-notch shows last season in the A league and makes excellent use of his fast spinning pitch.

Two Untried Teams Meet

In the second game of the first evening at the park, two untried ball clubs will face each other for their initial 1944 games. Paxson, another all-high school team, have a creditable looking lineup with three from last year's Strains team, several from Class B in 1943, and some new recruits.

Dick Hahn and Paul Horning are booked to share the pitching assignments with Young Jim Primm behind the plate. Walt Brian will be at third, his place last year. Bill Vignovich at first, Glenn Paparodis at second, Don Oesch at short and Johnnie Pozniko in the roving short job.

In the outfield Manager Paul Horning has booked Jack Resatka, Walt Andres and Pete Cibula, who will probably divide the duties with Ben Brudery and Charles "Mutt" Schaeffer.

The roster of the Salem News squad includes Fred Cope and Chet Brautigam as pitchers. Paul Dodge behind the plate, Glenn Couchie on third base and Charles Malloy at short. Ted Jones will cover first and Don Beattie second.

Cope Or Brautigam To Pitch
Julius Falk will be roving shortstop and Jim Middleton, a new-comer to Salem softball from Sidney, will work in centerfield. The other two outfield jobs will be taken over by Ben Kupka and Dick Falk.

Either Cope or Brautigam will pitch Monday and the other will probably work in the outfield or in the shortstop position, as Malloy will not play with the squad the first game. Also booked for action with the News later in the year is Loren Early, a veteran ball player who has never participated in the Salem league.

Joe Kelley, league manager, said today that another entry is expected in the A league. Demings have notified Kelley of their intentions to participate in the league, but a complete list of players is not available.

SIX READY TO GO IN RICHEST RACE AT PIMLICO TODAY

Pensive Favored to Repeat; Platter Is Second Choice

BY DONALD SANDERS
BALTIMORE, May 13.—Pensive attempts today to make his Kentucky Derby victory stick as he faces six other three-year-olds for the richest Preakness purse in history.

Warren Wright's son of Hyperion, who scored a surprise triumph by his stretch drive at Louisville, went out for the second leg of the triple crown and a strong bid for divisional honors against four thoroughbreds he whipped in the Derby and two others.

A crowd of 35,000 or more was expected to pack Pimlico for the 54th running of Maryland's most famous contest for a blanket of black-eyed susans, the Ancient Woodlawn vase and a winner's check for $60,710 out of a gross value of $80,210.

The weather forecast was fair and warm and the track was fast. Post-time was fixed at 4:05 p. m. (EWT).

Pensive was a slight favorite over George D. Widener's Platter, with Stir Up, the beaten Derby favorite from Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greenree stable, third choice. Platter passed up the Derby.

Eddie Arcaro, who had no excuse for Stir Up after the Derby, was seeking his second Preakness victory with the son of Stimulus, for he was on Whirlaway when the money winning champion came home first.

Others named to go to postward were Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Styxie, Gay Bit, the stretch runner from the Bobanet stables of Baltimorean R. Bruce Livie, A. C. Ernst's Alorter and Gramps Image.

Hardball Team Plans Practice On Sunday

A practice session and business meeting will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday for the newly-organized Salem hardball team at Centennial park.

All players present last week are urged to attend. Walt Smith, Jim Smith, Dutch Tabuler, Paul Stratton and Nevin Halverstadt are asked to report because of special business to be transacted.

"Powerhouse" Paul Walker, sensational freshman athlete at Yale, is the son of Fred M. Walker of the great University of Chicago grid teams in 1903-06.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The old-timers who have been moaning that there was nothing left to baseball but crude slugging, apparently will have plenty of chances this season to see how they like the old play-for-a-run contest. . . . Look at these sample headlines from one day: "Yankers' Bunts Trim Detroit." "White Sox Triumph on Trotsky's Steal in 16th." and "Indiana Trap Two Men Off Base." With Beau Jack going into the Army, it looks as if Willie Pep will be boxing's next big drawing card.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Tommy Fitzgerald, Louisville Courier-Journal: "The war production board has turned down a request of the Chicago Cubs for equipment for night baseball. The only alternative the Cubs seem to have now is to use the White Sox park or quit getting the daylight knocked out of them."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Actor Paul Robeson, All-America end at Rutgers in 1918, was agile enough to bust up a softball game in Central park yesterday by making three crucial hits. . . . Tomorrow's National Soccer cup final between the Brooklyn Hispanos and the Pittsburgh Morgan Strassers will mark the first time in 24 years that the same pair of finalists have met in successive years. . . . In spite of denials, the best word we can get is that the story about Princeton quitting football is the McCoy.

A ROOKIE A DAY

Tommy De La Cruz, Reds' pitcher: A big league rookie but hardly a greenhorn. Tom, son of a Cuban plantation manager, has been around long enough to speak good English. . . . Broke in with Albany in 1936, working in 53 games. . . . Last season with Syracuse he marked up 21 regular-season victories, for a 1.99 earned runs average, and three in the play-offs. . . . Only loss so far this year came when the Reds were shut out.

Soldiers Are Given Realistic Training In Abandoning Ship

(By United Press)
CAMP SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal. — For soldiers who may some time hear the order, "Abandon Ship!" Camp San Luis Obispo recently instituted a water safety course which might mean the difference between life and death.

Engineers at the camp have constructed a replica of the side of a sinking ship and two jumping towers beside an open-air swimming pool. In groups of 50, the men enter the training area dressed in fatigues to hear an explanation and demonstration of the life belt.

Special stress is given to the position of the life belt while the soldier is in the water. It has been found that the belt will keep the soldier on his back. This places the inflation tubes in front where the soldier can refill the belt with carbon dioxide capsules.

The student then mounts the ladders to the top of the 16-foot "ship" and descends by means of guy ropes with knots from 16 to 18 inches apart. He is impressed with the fact he must take off from the ship as quickly as possible and remain in the immediate vicinity of the sinking ship so he may be picked up more readily.

After going down the ropes, the student swims the length of the pool to the diving board, where he is taught how to jump in to the water, standing straight and relaxed, his feet close together and his hands gripping the life belt. He then steps off, hitting the water feet first. He repeats this from a six-foot tower and a 12-foot tower.

The course ends when the soldier puts on his shoes, straps on a pack, tightens up his helmet liner and is given a simulated rifle weighing as much as an M-1. With his life belt in proper position, he then swims across the pool and returns.

The War Today

don't exact unconditional surrender from Germany and Japan.

WE HAVE SWORN that Nazism and Prussian militarism shall be utterly destroyed in Germany, and that militarism shall be pulled up by the roots in Japan. We've sworn that the territories stolen by both countries shall be returned to their rightful owners. We've sworn to render both Germany and Japan utterly impotent militarily. We've sworn to punish war guilt.

How, say you, could we achieve all this unless unconditional surrender were exacted—unless we dictated the terms? Obviously it would be impossible. Thousands of our boys who already have made the great sacrifice, and other thousands who at this moment are girding themselves for the bloody beaches of D-day, would have fought for a will-o'-the-wisp.

The Germans are great on synthetic productions. The thing we've got to watch out for is that they don't put over a synthetic peace.

Still, while the Allies propose to purge Germany and Japan (and the rest of 'em so far as they deserve), we have no intention of reverting to barbarism to do it. It's the Allied purpose to help the defeated nations to become useful citizens in a decent world.

One order to stock Army Post Exchanges included 5,168,000 plugs of chewing tobacco, the War Department reports.

CANTON — A man and wife who have lived in town all their lives recently moved to a farm and like it, except that the wife gets frantic at the sight of a snake.
She told the family: "We're going to put a bell on a tail pole. Everytime I see a snake, I'll ring the bell. Then if nobody comes, I'll climb the pole."

TILTONVILLE — The Reynolds twins are tops in this year's Warren Consolidated high school graduating class.
Theo Reynolds will be valedictorian and Cleo will give the salutatory at the commencement May 29.

CINCINNATI — After a local paper published a story of how Judge Louis J. Schneider of common pleas court found two four-leaf clovers and one with five leaves in his lawn, seven-year-old Stevie Mack wrote the following letter:
"Dear Mr. Editor: This news is not new. I found 20 four-leaf clovers and three five-leaf clovers. I sent two of them to my dad, who is a major in England, and I still have a four-leaf clover and one five-leaf, if you want to see them."

A MEDAL for MOTHER

"Mom, I got the medal. I am sending it to you," wrote Charles "Commando" Kelly from Italy. General Mark Clark had just pinned on his breast the Congressional Medal of Honor, while the entire Sixth Division of the Fifth Army stood at attention.

Then Mother got the medal. Why not? Her boy, her medal. We all feel as Soldier Kelly did. If we do anything that shines in the world we want her to have credit. If we haven't done anything much to date, we are still trying—for her sake.

Mother means everything in the world to us. She is the best soldier, the greatest morale builder, the most powerful force for victory that we have.
